

Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year to all our friends...

From THE ELBA CLIPPER

Once again, it is our particular pleasure to wish a Merry Christmas to the most appreciated people we know, our friends and customers. At this Holy season, we marvel anew, like the shepherds and Wise Men of old, at the Great Miracle wrought on Christmas

Eve by Him who created all things. Today, as on that wondrous Night when the angels sang, may the joy, beauty, hope and abiding faith of Christmas be ever with us, and may the true spirit of Christmas time light the way to lasting Peace.

Andrews Visits In Elba

Congressman George Andrews and his secretary, Doug Smith, of Union Springs and Washington D.C., were among their many friends in Elba recently. He also attended a luncheon honoring the retired teachers and given by Elba High School, superintendent of Elba schools.

Congressman Andrews was re-elected to represent the 3rd Congressional District in Washington for the next two years. Since the redistricting bill was passed by the Alabama Legislature two weeks ago, he added to the 3rd District, increasing the District 12 counties instead of the former 10.

Andrews' 3rd District includes Tallapoosa, Chambers, Lee, Macon, Russell, Bullock, Barbour, Henry, Autauga, Dale, Geneva, and Houston.

Congressman Andrews

has been chairman of the Senate Select Committee on Small Business.

Britt Gives Reasons For Growing Soybeans

Replies to why farmers grow certain crops or raise certain items, are always interesting.

When asked why he grows soybeans, Frank Britt of Coffee County gave an answer which is a little different from the regular one.

"I grow soybeans because it's something to follow," said Britt, of Enterprise, Route 1 farmer.

After further questioning, Britt explained that he grows two crops on the same land every year.

"I wouldn't think of growing either one of these by themselves," said Britt, "but jointly I believe the two will pay more acre per acre than anything else."

should have permanent anti-freeze in them or to prevent against freezing.

Be sure to check the instruction manual for lubrication and number of drain plug in cooling system.

All farm equipment should be checked while it is in storage for worn or broken parts. Repairs should be made now.

Engines in tractors and power units should be overhauled by the dealer now to prevent a delay later, and possibly loss of time from field work.

This wiregrass farmer likes these two crops especially because he can cultivate and harvest them with mechanical equipment. "I can grow and harvest them myself," Britt says. "No chopping or hand hoeing is necessary. I only plow them twice."

Britt has another reason for growing oats. "Since I grow out about 4,000 acres each year, I need oats to feed the plains. Oats are nine weeks old until they are 23 weeks old, half of their feed is oats."

Looking further, soybeans and oats fit into Britt's total farming program just like pieces in a jigsaw puzzle having its own purpose instead of place.

Not only do the oats supply grazing for his beef cattle, but the winter wheat crop provides work for his equipment and labor force more days of the year.

Those who are growing corn, cotton, peanuts, pastures and who are soil testing are making more money than those who fertilize them the way they always have or just guess at it.

Any time in January is a good time to test.

Farm NEWS

BY TOM CASADAY, CO. AGENT

A. W. Wilson, of Elba, and I attended a Farm News Hope Committee meeting in Union Springs last week. We met with county agents from next year. A. W., along with Congressman George Andrews and various farmers in District III outlined farm legging plans. I enjoyed being in the meeting with these farmers and farm leaders.

We are on the brink of making a break-through in corn production yields in Coffee County. Last year farmers made the highest per acre yields ever. Corn yields can be doubled in Coffee County.

Billy Finlay of Route 2, Enterprise and we were driving to Dothan together a few days ago to appear on a television program. Billy and his folks are in the dairy business. I think that they also have peanuts, corn, and probably some other crops.

Driving out, we talked about dairying and about management. Billy, who is only 21 years old, had this to say: "Now and in taking to a lot of planning and management to succeed in farming." He went on to say, "It cannot be handled like a hobby."

J.A. Weeks of Route 1, Kingston, Fox Brumson, of

Elba,

The cooling systems of tractors and all power units

be checked before January 15, so that the heads of the tractors can be turned to the heavy rains of winter start.

If the ground has not been limed in the past four or five years, it is probably needed for better growth of most vegetables. Have a soil test made and apply lime if needed before breaking the land.

Folks who read this column regularly know why I almost always mention soil testing and fertilizer. The soil is our basic resource. The more we can learn about how to use it, the better off we will be.

Those who are growing corn, cotton, peanuts, pastures and who are soil testing are making more money than those who fertilize them the way they always have or just guess at it.

Any time in January is a good time to test.

After further questioning, Britt explained that he grows two crops on the same land every year.

"I wouldn't think of growing either one of these by themselves," said Britt, "but jointly I believe the two will pay more acre per acre than anything else."

The two-crop system works like this: Britt harvests 40 acres of soybeans on the first of June. Immediately, he prepares the land and plants soybeans. After soybeans are combined in the fall, the next 40 acres ready for planting.

All farm equipment should be checked while it is in storage for worn or broken parts. Repairs should be made now.

Engines in tractors and power units should be overhauled by the dealer now to prevent a delay later, and possibly loss of time from field work.

MYSTERY SCENE - Tell us where it is. The photographer tried to get the picture with a bird sitting on top of the tallest part of the old dead tree in the center of the picture. The bird is there but can't be recognized.

EDWARD WILSON, of Elba, Alabama, was the first to give a detailed report of the Mystery Scene two weeks ago. He said he had seen the picture in a magazine from Branson's Hill, and several were correct as to the spot. The place where the picture was taken is as follows: Take paved road to Elba, turn right on Main Street, then left on Highway 84. Go to top of hill and turn left again on dirt road. Turn right on dirt road and go down hill to a big clear spot from where you can see the entire City of Elba and overlooking the river.

Miss Smith, Mr. McCollough

Married December 19

Miss Paula Nan Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Smith of Elba, became the bride of Mr. Mickey McCollough, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. McCollough, at Elba on Saturday afternoon, December 19, at two o'clock in the First Baptist Church.

Doctor Charles Graham officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

A central arrangement of white gladioli and lilies formed the focal point of the sanctuary with a background of ferns and magnolia foliage. Branched candelabra and white bridal canpers were placed on either side of the altar. Family pews were marked with bows of red and white ribbon.

Miss Angeline Smith, pianist, sister of the bride, presented a program of nuptial music. Mrs. Norman Johns, another sister of the bride, sang "O Perfume of Heaven" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Mrs. Ronnie Danford served as her sister's honor attendant. Bridesmaids were Miss Peggy Smith, Miss Cheryl Dethe bride, and Bob Durham, Bryan, in Birmingham, during the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Bud Rushing, of Orlando, Florida, visited Mrs. Maggie Hattaway and Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Fuller last week.

Reverend and Mrs. Holder and children, of Phenix City, were the guests of Mrs. Holder's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Will Hardy, last week.

Mrs. Alma Morrow, of Panama City, Florida, spent Christmas with her son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jake Lubent Morrow.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Kendrick and two daughters, of Griffin, Georgia, spent last week with their parents, Mrs. Luke Kendrick and Mr. and Mrs. R.H. Talbot.

Doctor and Mrs. Charles Graham and Ralph Davis served the wedding cake and punch.

For the honeymoon the bride changed to a beige suit with accessories of the same. She wore an orchid corsage from her bridal bouquet.

The couple will reside in Elba until Mr. McCollough graduates from Troy State College in the summer.

Additional PERSONALS

Mrs. Mary Olive Purvis, of Birmingham, spent last week with her sister, Mrs. T.D. Kendrick, Tuesday.

Miss Jeanette Garrett, of Birmingham, spent last week with her mother, Mrs. J. M. Garrett.

FARM NEWS

By Tom Casaday, County Extension Chairman

4-H hope you will notice the stories and pictures in the paper this week. Mr. Dan Presley and Mrs. Virginia Dykes have assembled some material to point out 4-H work, as this week is National 4-H Club Week.

The theme this year is "4-H: A World of Opportunity." Many doors to great opportunities have been opened to both rural and city boys and girls through the 4-H Club program.

I understand that participation somehow got mixed up with some flour. We use flour for participation as well as for insecticides. I hope that opportunity will increase even more for our young people.

CORN CONTEST I have checked several cornfields in the last few days. Our fields are running real good; however, I haven't found anyone yet who has made 100 bushels per acre. Mr. Jimmie Wilson, a field that made about 89 bushels per acre and his field averaged about 81 bushels per acre. I also found a field belonging to Connie Sims and Roy Sims and one of their fields made 86 bushels and the other field averaged about 43 bushels per acre. These fields are located about one mile apart, but one received a good rain while the other field didn't.

The Chilton County commerce manager, O. I. Cunningham, is intensely interested in getting a yield of 100 bushels per acre. He has a field that made about 98 bushels per acre and his son's field averaged about 81 bushels per acre. I also found a field belonging to Connie Sims and Roy Sims and one of their fields made 86 bushels and the other field averaged about 43 bushels per acre. These fields are located about one mile apart, but one received a good rain while the other field didn't.

SOYBEANS J. S. Moore, who works for the Elba Tractor Company, planted about six acres of soybeans this year and has a good bean crop.

We are about taking couple of hours of day right away and destroy leaf over containers of poisons and insecticides. To many folks, it takes a few pounds of this and that and finally end up throwing it away. We are going to throw something else growing them, Isaac Bourwell, who lives at 214 Pinehurst Drive.

Ernestine has planted over 200 acres at Brundidge, he won't make much money on them, but he is learning how to control and handle weeds and grass.

This bears out some statements that Dean Bond, soybean specialist at Auburn, made concerning soybeans.

Bond said that you have to learn how to grow them before you can really harvest. Of course, Tom Finley, Frank Britt, Jimmy and Earl Henderson have planted beans of late for several years and know all about the ups and downs of this crop.

Bourwell is planning to follow his lead with wheat.

He wants to get the wheat planted before December if possible.

PEANUTS I talked with Max Hildreth at the Sessions Oil Company the other day and he said that he would have some exact figures in a few days; however, I gave him some general estimates of production. These fields are located about one mile apart, but one received a good rain while the other field didn't.

The Chilton County commerce manager, O. I. Cunningham, is intensely interested in getting a yield of 100 bushels per acre. He has a field that made about 98 bushels per acre and his son's field averaged about 81 bushels per acre. I also found a field belonging to Connie Sims and Roy Sims and one of their fields made 86 bushels and the other field averaged about 43 bushels per acre. These fields are located about one mile apart, but one received a good rain while the other field didn't.

wise. Some lost several hundred pounds per acre due to weather conditions beyond their control. I believe, though, our farmers are more aware of producing high yields of peanuts than in previous years.

CATFISH PRODUCTION Rex Lowery of Jack and Wilcox is raising a lot of catfish. He has had some trouble in his production plans, but generally he's getting good results. James Rowell of Rt. 2 Elba is making plans to put in a pond and stock it with catfish.

SAFETY The tragedy in Tijuana, Mexico where about fifteen children have died, reminds us to practice safety in handling pesticides.

SOYBEANS J. S. Moore, who works for the Elba Tractor Company, planted about six acres of soybeans this year and has a good bean crop.

CORN CONTEST I have checked several cornfields in the last few days. Our fields are running real good; however, I haven't found anyone yet who has made 100 bushels per acre. Mr. Jimmie Wilson, a field that made about 89 bushels per acre and his field averaged about 81 bushels per acre. I also found a field belonging to Connie Sims and Roy Sims and one of their fields made 86 bushels and the other field averaged about 43 bushels per acre.
